Foreword

This report presents the final results of the 1986 By-census conducted in March 1986. It contains sets of tables summarising the demographic, social and economic characteristics of the population in each District Board Constituency Area.

Figures in this report refer to the land-based population of Hong Kong on 11 March 1986, excluding 37 280 marine population, 26 106 transients, 9 131 Vietnamese refugees and 99 491 residents who were temporarily away from Hong Kong on the census reference night. An adjustment has been made to the enumerated population to allow for persons in non-contact households.

There are in total 145 District Board Constituency Areas, grouped under 19 Districts as delineated by the City and New Territories Administration. Maps showing the boundaries of the Constituency Areas are attached to the report.

The 1986 By-census was based on a one-in-seven sample of the population. Estimates obtained from the By-census are subject to sampling error and the sampling error is approximately in inverse proportion to the sample size. Therefore, figures for areas with a small population have larger sampling errors and should be used with caution.

Detailed analysis and interpretation of the By-census results will be presented in the Main Report to be published in late 1987.

The 1986 By-census was based on a one-in-seven sample of the population of Hong Kong. Information on detailed social, economic and demographic characteristics was collected from all persons in the households in the sampled living quarters. Estimates were derived from the information collected from these households/persons.

Definition of Terms

District Board Constituency Area—The geographic area delineated by the City and New Territories Administration for district administration purposes. There are in total 145 Constituency Areas grouped under 19 District Board districts.

Living Quarters—This includes:

(a) quarters built for residential purposes irrespective of whether anybody is living there; and

(b) quarters built for non-residential purposes which normally has one or more persons living there or was occupied on the census reference night.

Structurally, a living quarters must be internally connected so that the occupants could move between the rooms/cubicles without going outside onto a public corridor, landing or staircase. It must also have a direct external access to a street, a public corridor, landing or staircase without going through another quarters. For this report, all figures on living quarters refer to quarters where occupants were present on the reference night.

Domestic Household—This comprises a group of persons, related family members with/without unrelated persons or unrelated persons only, who live together in the same living quarters and share the food of the household. The expenditure of the household is borne by one or more household members. This also includes any person who lives alone and is responsible for his/her own meals.

Type of Living Quarters—A living quarters is classified by the type of building in which the living quarters is located.

A building is classified in accordance with the following scheme:

(a) by the purpose for which the building is built;

(b) by the type of materials used; and

(c) by the sector responsible for its construction/management.

Self-contained Quarters—A living quarters with internal piped water supply and a flush toilet system.

Housing Authority Rental Blocks (Group A)—These are Government Low Cost Housing Blocks and other buildings under the management of the Hong Kong Housing Authority. Units in these blocks are self-contained. Converted Mark I to Mark III blocks are also grouped in this category.

Housing Authority Rental Blocks (Group B)—These are buildings formerly managed by the Resettlement Department but have been put under the management of the Hong Kong Housing Authority since 1973. They can be divided into Mark I to Mark VI estates. Units in Mark I to Mark III are non self-contained.

Housing Authority Home Ownership Estates—These are self-contained living quarters built and managed by the Hong Kong Housing Authority under the Home Ownership Scheme, the Private Sector Participation Scheme and the Middle-income Housing Scheme.

Private Housing Blocks (Self-contained)—These include self-contained living quarters in apartments and other multi-storey blocks owned by the private sector for residential purposes. Living quarters in Housing Society Urban Improvement Scheme estates are also included in this category.

Villas/Bungalows—These include self-contained living quarters in modern houses of one to three storeys. The design of the houses is more deluxe.

Modern Village Houses—These include self-contained living quarters in relatively modern design village houses of two to three storeys. The roofs of these houses are often laid horizontally.

Simple Stone Structures—These include non self-contained living quarters in one to two storeys houses built of stone and/or other permanent or semi-permanent materials. Units in traditional village houses are also grouped in this category.

Institutions—These include units in hospitals, old people's homes, religious houses, maternity homes, prison cells and Army Barracks etc.

Other Permanent Housing—These inlcude units in hotels, boarding houses and other similar residential institutions. Living quarters in commercial, manufacturing and other non-domestic buildings are also grouped in this category.

Roof-top Structures—These are structures built of temporary or semi-permanent materials on the roofs of permanent buildings.

Other Temporary Housing—These are structures built of temporary materials (other than roof-top structures) including Housing Authority cottages, Housing Authority temporary huts, other private temporary huts, contractor's matsheds, nissen huts and places not intended for residential purposes but were occupied on the census reference night (e.g. landings, staircases, corridors etc.).

Number of Domestic Households in Living Quarters—This refers to the number of domestic households found to be in a living quarters on the census reference night.

Number of Occupants in Living Quarters—This refers to the number of persons found to be in a living quarters on the census reference night.

Usual Household Size—This refers to the number of persons who spent most of the nights in the household during the three months before enumeration in the By-census.

Household Size—This refers to the number of persons found to be in the household on the census reference night.

Household Composition—Household composition is derived from the 'relationship to the head of household' of each usual household member enumerated in a domestic household. It shows the structure of a household in terms of (a) the number of family nuclei and (b) the relationship between the family nucleus and other related household members.

Family nucleus—This consists of one of the following combinations:

(a) a married couple without children,

(b) a married couple with one or more never married children, or

(c) one parent (either father or mother) with one or more never married children.

One unextended nuclear family—A household comprising one family nucleus without other related persons.

One vertically extended nuclear family—A household comprising one family nucleus with one or more related persons not of the same generation. It may or may not include other related persons of the same generation.

One horizontally extended nuclear family—A household comprising one family nucleus with one or more related persons of the same generation but without any other related persons of a different generation.

Two or more nuclear families—A household comprising two or more family nuclei whose members may or may not be related in anyway.

Household Tenure—The terms or conditions under which the accommodation is held by the household.

Owner-occupier—A household which owns the living quarters it occupies.

Sole tenant—A household which rents the whole living quarters it occupies from someone who lives outside the living quarters without sharing with other household(s) or subletting.

Main tenant—A household which rents the whole living quarters it occupies from someone who lives outside the living quarters and sublets to other household(s).

Sub-tenant—A household which rents part of a living quarters from someone who lives in the same living quarters.

Co-tenant—Two or more households each rents part of a living quarters from someone who lives outside the living quarters.

Rent free—A household which occupies the accommodation free, with or without the owner's permission. This excludes households occupying accommodation provided by employers.

Provided/Subsidised by employer—A household occupies an accommodation provided or subsidised by employer. A household is included in this category if any of its members receives a housing allowance of any kind and of any amount (including Home Purchase Allowance) from his/her employer. This also includes households occupying living quarters leased from employers at a nominal rent.

Household Rent—The amount paid for the month of March 1986 by a household for occupying the accommodation, after deducting any housing allowance/subsidies received.

Household Income—This refers to the total income (including earnings in cash from employment and other cash incomes for February 1986) of all persons who were found to be in the household on the census reference night.

Age—The number of complete years a person has passed since birth.

Place of Birth—The place where the respondent was born.

Marital Status—The status of a person in relation to marriage. The marital status of a person was recorded according to the actual situation as reported by the respondent. There was no check of whether the marriage/divorce had undergone any kind of legal registration or whether any kind of ceremony had ever been taken place. Persons under the age of 15 were classified automatically as 'never married', regardless of the status claimed.

Educational Attainment—This refers to the highest level of education ever attained by a person in school or other educational institution, regardless of whether he/she had passed the course. Only formal courses, as defined below, are counted as educational attainment:

(i) it lasts at least one academic year's duration;
(ii) it requires specific academic entrance qualifications; and
(iii) it includes an examination for assessment purposes.

Primary—Including Primary 1–6 in all schools.

Lower secondary—Including Middle 1–3 in Chinese schools or Form 1–3 in English or Anglo-Chinese schools.
